

Canterbury Bankstown City Library Image Collection

c. 2008 –

Other Names: • Remember Canterbury-Bankstown

URL: <https://pictorialcanterbury.imagegallery.me/>

To access these records: Please contact Local History section of Canterbury Bankstown City Library:

Postal address: 80 Rickard Road, Bankstown NSW 2200

Phone: (02) 9707 9728

Email: libraries@cbc.city.nsw.gov.au

Records Location

These records are held by Canterbury Bankstown City Library Service

Details

The Canterbury Bankstown City Library Image Collection contains images of the Canterbury Bankstown local government area held by Canterbury Bankstown City Library. The collection is being digitised and is available online as Canterbury Bankstown Remembers and via Trove. The collection includes images of the Protestant Federation Home which contains images of people and buildings at the New South Wales Protestant Federation Children's Home that was located in Garnet Street, Hurlstone Park.

Access Conditions

Digital copies of the photographs are available online. Each image has individual copyright and acknowledgement instructions attached.

Records

The smaller collection, Protestant Federation Home, consists of more than 160 group shots, portraits, building photographs and illuminated addresses from the New South Wales Protestant Federation Children's Home. Many of the subjects of the portraits from the Home have been identified.

Many of the photographs in this collection were donated to the Canterbury Bankstown City Library, or the Library was given access to their private photograph collections for copying.

Gallery

Protestant Federation Home, Hurlstone Park, 1940s

Description: This is a digital copy of an image in the Protestant Children's Home collection in the Canterbury Bankstown City Library Image Collection. The description given states 'NSW Protestant Federation Home, 50 Garnet Street, Hurlstone Park.'

Protestant Federation Home, [portrait], Hurlstone Park, ca 1942

Description: This is a digital copy of an image in the Protestant Children's Home collection in the Canterbury City Council Library Local History Photograph Collection. The description states 'Birds cage in the playground. Note the hall window painted over. This was to prevent light escaping at night in the event of air raids during the war.'

Protestant Federation Home, Hurlstone Park, 1940s

Description: This is a digital copy of an image in the Protestant Children's Home collection in the Canterbury City Council Library Local History Photograph Collection. The description given states 'NSW Protestant Federation Home, 50 Garnet Street, Hurlstone Park.'

More info

Organisations in these records

Related Organisations

- New South Wales Protestant Federation Children's Home \(1921 - 1980\)

The City of Canterbury Local History Photography Collection contains photographs of children, staff and old girls from the New South Wales Protestant Federation Children's Home (1921-). This collection is digitised at Pictorial Canterbury. To see the photos type "protestant federation" into the Pictorial Canterbury search box.

Resources

- Lyons, Mark, Ness, John Thomas \(1871-1947\), Australian Dictionary of Biography, 1988
 - Hardie, Catherine (information courtesy Mary Brown nee Stevens), NSW Protestant Federation Girls' Home, Pictorial Canterbury, 2012
-

You can view this page online by visiting <https://findconnect.efront.digital/entity/canterbury-city-council-library-local-history-photograph-collection/>