

Society for the Relief of Destitute Children

1852 - c. 1915

Other Names: • Destitute Children's Society

Details

The Society for the Relief of Destitute Children was formed in Sydney in 1852 by members of the Benevolent Society of New South Wales. It was a separate organisation and ran the Asylum for Destitute Children at Ormond House in Paddington (1852-1858) and the Randwick Asylum for Destitute Children. The Society was incorporated in 1857 under a special Act of Parliament. The Society was dissolved after 1915.

More info

Related Entries

Ran

- Asylum for Destitute Children (1852 1858)
- Randwick Asylum for Destitute Children (1858 1915)

Related Organisations

Benevolent Society of New South Wales (1813 - current)
Members of the Benevolent Society of New South Wales formed the Society for the Relief of Destitute Children to specifically care for children.

Related Places

Ormond House (1824 - current)

The New South Wales Society for the Relief of Destitute Children leased Ormond House from 1852 until 1858. Date: 1852 - 1858

Related Legislation

Deserted Wives and Children Act of 1840 as amended by the Act of 1858, New South Wales (1858 - 1901)

Resources

- Ramsland, John, Children of the back lanes: destitute and neglected children in colonial New South Wales, 1986
- Murray, John, Children's mass grave in Sydney, Inside: Life in Children's Homes and Institutions blog, 1 November 2010

Records

Records held by other organisations

• Registers of Inmates, Randwick Asylum for Destitute Children (June 1852 - August 1915)

You can view this page online by visiting https://findconnect.efront.digital/entity/society-for-the-relief-of-destitute-children/