Medical services were provided to boys at Westbrook by a Visiting Medical Officer who travelled from Toowoomba to Westbrook periodically (fortnightly, monthly, or only on an as-needs basis). For emergency treatment, boys were taken to the Toowoomba General Hospital.

From 4 December 1960, first aid and basic medical attention was made available on a daily basis with the appointment of a resident Matron (a qualified nursing sister).

This series records: name of boy, date of treatment in hospital, name of doctor or specialist unit, notations regarding treatment received, and medical condition.
