Details

The Archive of the General Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists houses over 20,000 linear feet of records documenting the history of the Seventh-day Adventist Church worldwide. The collection is managed by the Office of Archives, Statistics, and Research of the church. The collection includes items such as minutes, correspondence, newsletters, books, pamphlets, audio-visual material, photographs, and legal documents. Some of these resources have been digitised and are available online. Some of the publications refer to Karalundi and Wiluna Missions, which were run by the Western Australian Conference of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.
